VANCOUVER.—This progressive city is situated at the western terminus of the C.P.R. 15 miles north of the mouth of the Fraser River, in the Strait of Georgia. The principal part of the city occupies a peninsula, bounded on the north by the waters of Burrard Inlet, south by a small indentation called False Creek, and west by English Bay, of which the other two are arms. The city is extending the east, and to the south across False Cre

The site of Vancouver could scarcely h. been better chosen for a large city. Burra. Inlet is always safely navigable for the deepest draft vessels, and is one of the finest harbors in the world. The passage at the narrows or mouth of the inlet is about half a mile wide. Opposite the city front, however, it is more than 2 miles wide, with a depth varying from 6 to 20 fathoms, and extends inland about 20 miles, affording access to a considerable area of rich country, the products of which Vancouver governs, in this respect serving the commercial purpose of a large river. On the west and south, English Bay and False Creek also afford accommodation for shipping.

It was incorporated under the name "Vancouver" on April 6, 1886, the population then
