MARINE NEWS

ACCIDENT TO BEATRICE

Officers of the Princess, on arrival south, stated that the vessel went ashore on Noble Island in a driving rain. Mate W. Hines was on the bridge, with the watchman at the wheel. The Beatrice was steaming about fourteen knots, with the compass pointing southeast by south. The night was terribly dark and nothing was discernible ahead. The mate instructed the man at the wheel to keep her a few points east of her course and drop the clutch. It is understood that this order was disregarded, owing to the alleged deafness of the man at the wheel, who failed to catch the orders given by the mate. The vessel immediately altered her course and swung around northeast by north and a few minutes later struck the rocks.

ALASKAN WHALERS

With a capital stock of $3,000,000, subscribed by European and American capitalists, the latter residing in the east, the United States Whaling Company has been incorporated and has let a contract for the construction of three modern steam whalers to the Moran Company of Seattle. The new vessels will be built after designs prepared at the Victoria shipyard, and will be ready for service in Alaskan waters within six months.

Balfour, Guthrie & Co. are agents for the United States Whaling Company, and Alexander Baillie, resident partner of the British concern, said that headquarters for the whaling corporation would be maintained in Seattle.

Two of the new whalers will be ninety-five feet long and one will be 117 feet in length. All will be built of steel, will have a speed of approximately eleven knots an hour and will be equipped with all modern apparatus for whaling in the waters of the north.

While no figures were given out, it is said the cost of the three new whalers, which will be patterned after the Paterson and Moran, lately launched at the Moran yards, will be slightly in excess of $200,000.

P. Borgen of Norway is president of the United States Whaling Company and Captain Einar Abrahamson, also of Norway, is general manager. Abrahamson is a veteran master of whaling vessels.

FOR PAPER MILL

Remodelled at a cost of some $10,000 the Dodwell liner Fulton has increased her capacity to 900 tons. The principal reason for her remodelling is to permit her carrying theh increasing exports of the Powell River Paper Company to Seattle. Captain E. V. Kruger, a familiar figure in Sound shipping, who, as master of the Sound freighter Samson, rendered invaluable aid in floating the steamship Kitsap, is in command. From a well decked steam schooner, the Fulton has been changed to a raised deck vessel, and ports have been cut in her sides. A freight elevator was recently installed in the vessel to assist in raising freight to the level of the dock.

The Fulton was only recently put on this route between Tacoma, Seattle, Victoria and Vancouver, having been brought up from San Francisco for the purpose. Hitherto she has not made Powell River a port of call.

TRADE OF PACIFIC

Leaders of the shipping trade of Australia are awakening to the necessity of asserting themselves in the Pacific. During the past ten years foreign shipping trade has grown enormously as the result of the subsidies paid by European governments. This trade has been taken away from the Commonwealth, and shipowners here have become alarmed at the losses they have suffered. Strong representations are now being made to the federal government to remove the disabilities under which local shipping at present labors. It is thought that with fair opportunities the Australian owners could regain their lost preeminence.

The rapid spread of the Japanese over the islands of the Pacific is also causing apprehension in the minds of those Australian who hope to see the Commonwealth play her part in the Pacific Ocean. It is asserted that there are now 25,000 fighting men in Honolulu, while thousands are flowing into New Caledonia, ostensibly to work in the mines. The importance of securing trade in the Pacific has also made itself felt in New Zealand, where much more active steps have been taken than in the Commonwealth.

In connection with this question, pressure is being brought to bear on the Fisher administration to hasten the establishment of reciprocity with Canada and at the same time to improve the mail service between the two countries. A proposal has already been made to the postmaster by the Oceanic company to carry the mails in thirty days from Sydney to London. The company states that it intends to resume its service with San Francisco and it wishes to secure a subsidy for carrying the mails. The fact that a considerable saving of time would be effected by sending the mails via San Francisco is weighed with the government, but no action will be taken until the whole proposal is thoroughly gone into.

SPORTS

LACROSSE CHANGE

According to rumors now going the rounds in lacrosse circles in the east there is a movement on foot to freeze out four of the teams in the National Lacrosse Union, engineered, it is believed, on account of the weakness of the Montreal Shamrocks, the Ottawa Capitals and the Cornwall club and the strength and financial backing of the Torontos. The movement to drop Cornwall and Ottawa is not new, but the proposition to drop the Shamrocks and Torontos comes as a big surprise.

The proposal now is to form a "big four" lacrosse league, with the Tecumsehs and a new team at Rosedale on the Toronto end, and the Nationals and Montreal on the Montreal end.

Ever since the Toronto Street Railway Company took over the franchise of the Toronto club in the N. L. U. there has been a feeling among the other clubs that the railway officials will reach the limit in lacrosse salaries in an effort to gather together the best players in the game, thus weakening the other clubs which cannot afford to pay big prices. Already the Toronto club his signed several players from other N. L. U. clubs for next year's team, while it is reported on good authority that Johnny Howard will come east again and that he will be accompanied by one of the New Westminster club's best home players. Howard, it is said, will manage the Toronto club. The local club is also negotiating for a couple of Vancouver players. The officials of the Scarboro Beach club are determined to land the best and are particularly anxious to bring the Minto Cup east next year.

PUGILISTIC AMBITION

The one abition in the life of Matt Wells, the English lightweight champion, is to win the world's title from Ad Wolgast, and it is largely because he wants to earn enough money so that he can insure his mother a trust fund of at least $25 a week as long as she lives.

Matt was born in London and will be twenty-six years old the fourteenth of next December. Hrowever, regarding this point, he and his mother are forever arguing. Matt says he is only twenty-four years old now, while his mother declares he is twelve months older than that, and as he believes his mother is in a better position than himself to know his right age he takes her word for it.

There were twelve in Matt's family, but two of them have passed beyond. Six of the survivors are girls and they have all married well-to-do business men in England. Two of his brothers are married, while the other is content to emulate Matt and remain single as long as their mother is alive.

Nobody would ever think that Mrs. Wells is sixty-eight years old, writes a New York expert, as she is just as lively as a cricket and takes long walks, swims and other outdoor enjoyment with all the ardor of a much younger person. Mrs. Wells didn't like it when Matt first took up the pugilistic game, but as long as he was determined to make his living out of it she made the best of it. Her only worry is that he might get hurt, and after every one of his battles she insists on his going straight to her to see whether he is marked.

Mrs. Wells dreads the oughts of Matt being seriously injured in his fights and she has always cautioned him to be lenient with his opponents and it is for this reason probably that he is content with just outpointing an adversary.

Once during the four that Matt was an amateur on the other side he beat a fellow up so badly that it made him timid for a long time in the ring, and every since he has always lets up on his opponent when he showed signs of grogginess. In all his twenty-five battles as a professional, Matty has never really knocked an opponent senseless.

It was because of his great love for his mother and his loneliness when she is not at his side that prompted Wells to cable her to come to America when he had only been here a week himself. She came to New York toward the last of May and he hired a nice furnished apartment in Brooklyn for her. Later in the summer, when he was training at Rye Beach, he had her down there with him, and he declares that the water, air and sunshine added five years to her life.

Any day Matt is not able to go over the bridge to see her, and there are such days because of fights and theatrical dates, he always writes to her. She would worry herself sick if he did not do it.

If you ask Mrs. Wells what she prizes most on earth, she will tell you that outside of the love for her children, it is the gold medal studded with diamonds which Matt won after a special bout when an amateur in England.

TRANSCONTINENTAL CHAIRMAN

R. C. Leonard of St. Catherines Has Been Named for the Post

The Borden government has made a beginning with its appointments. The premier announces that it had been decided to replace S. N. Parent as chairman of the National Transcontinental Railway commission with R. E. Leonard of St. Catherines, Ont. Mr. Parent was a lawyer politician out of a job. Under him the estimates of the line have been enormously exceeded and there has been a series of over classification scandals. R. E. Leonard is an engineer, a practial railway man, and a wealthy man who takes the post from a desire to render public services. He is a graduate of the Royal Military College and for some years was in railway construction work, being employed on the C. P. R. and the New York Central. He has a high reputation among engineers. Of late he has made exceedingly successful investments in the mining districts of New Ontario, among other things, being the principal owner of the Conlagas mine. He also has smelting interests at Thorold, Ontario. Mr. Leonard's means are such as to make the $10,000 a year which the position carries a matter of indifference. His attitude is understood to be that having once acquired sufficient wealth, he is anxious to do some public service. It is purely a case of the office seeking the man. Hon. Frank Cockrane, who conducted the negotiations on behalf of the government, found the public service aspect of the offer, the argument that prevailed.

A RICH COUNTRY

Every day brings more prominently to the attention of residents of this part of the province the fact that new British Columbia is to be the greatest wonder in the matter of resources yet opened up on the coast. The announcement, that within eighty-three miles of the city, directly on the line of the G. T. P., is an unlimited deposit of cement producing rock that will supply the whole of the north.

Cement will play an important part in the building up of this city and the manufacture of it in unlimited quantities within easy reach of the city will have an important bearing upon the future of the place.

Local men are interested and it is said that capital has already been proferred to complete the development of the undertaking, which may be commenced within a very short time, adding to the wealth of the city and creating a source of business that will have an important bearing upon the future of the city's business.

POWELL RIVER PLANT

Big Pulp Mill Will Be Ready Definitely Next Month—Trials Already Made

The progress at the Powell River Pulp Mills, while not as rapid as might have been hoped, as the company expected to be in actual operation by the present month, has owing to unforeseen difficulties postponed the opening to the middle of next month, according to present plans, after preliminary trails, which have already been carried out.

R. N. Calkins says that the mill will have a capacity of 100 tons a days, the newspaper publishers and others using a large amount of paper having cause for satisfaction in the

ADVISES PUBLIC SPIRIT

T. D. Pattullo, who is back to the city for the sale in Section 2 seems to have lost none of his faith in Prince Rupert by his residence in the south. Speaking to the Journal, he said he has the utmost faith in the place. It is going to be a splendid city, and that very quickly.

Coming back after several months' absence, he says he is struck by the progress that has been made and the altered appearance of the streets for the better.

Living away from the city, the ex-alderman says he can look a little more dispassionately upon the situation. He admonishes the citizens to get in and work for Prince Rupert. All party differences should be sunken in the effort to make the very best out of the city. If this is done the place will reflect the added interest which must be manifested.

He expects to see practically all the property in the business section of the city worth $1,000 a foot within a very short time. Mr. Pattullo will stay here until after the sale.

opportunity to purchase right in the province instead of having to meet the high freight rates from the east, where most of the paper has been bought in the past.

There are now 150 families located at the plant, and a school for fifty children is maintained in connection with the settlement. The intention is to run the mill at its full capacity, and the most modern machinery has been installed to enable the operations to be carried on most satisfactorily, and expeditiously. Mr. Calkins explained that when M. J. Scanlon, the millionaire Minneapolis lumberman, was at the works a few weeks ago, as one of the principal proprietors, he was greatly pleased with the plant.

WILL VISIT CANADA

Mrs. Pankhurst, the lated English suffragette is expected to arrive in Montreal, on December 15, and will lecture in Stanley Hall on "The English Women's Fight for the Vote." Mrs. Pankhurst, who has lectured in all the leading cities of the United States, visited Toronto last year, and is said to have won many recruits to the suffrage cause. She lectured before the Men's Canadian Club, and was given a warm welcome. She is a native of Manchester, England, and comes of revolutionary stock, her father having been a radical politician in the Peterloo Franchise riots in 1819, when he narrowly escaped with his life. As a student in Paris, Mrs. Pankhurst met a roommate of a daughter of Henri Rochefort, and from her caught the republican spirit. In Manchester she met and married Dr. Pankhurst, a barrister, who has been a member of the first woman's Suffrage Society, founded by John Stuart Mill. In 1903 Mrs. Pankhurst, with her daughter, Christabel, formed the Women's Social and Political Union. It is expected that her Canadian tour will include a visit to western Canadian cities.

CANCELLATION OF RESERVE
